CRITICS AGREE...

'FUEL' SETS THE GREEN STANDARD FOR DOCUMENTARIES

THE NEW YORK TIMES CRITIC' PICK, SUNDANCE AWARD WINNING ECO-DOC

"UNABASHEDLY INTIMATE"...Thanks to an informative, buoyant tone and the director's own restless intelligence, the film preaches to the unconverted with passion, energy and graphics so clear that they would make Al Gore weep all over his PowerPoint."

- Jeannette Catsoulis, NEW YORK TIMES

"IMPRESSIVELY COMPREHENSIVE"..."FUEL" is a vital, superbly assembled documentary that presents an insightful overview of America's troubled relationship with oil and how alternative and sustainable energies can reduce our country's -- and the world's -- addictive dependence on fossil fuels."

- Gary Goldstein, LOS ANGELES TIMES

"DYNAMIC, STIRRING...A MUST SEE AND NOT JUST FOR ENVIRONMENTALISTS"...We all know about ethanol, solar-and wind-generated power, hybrid engines and the like. But by the end of "Fuel," one might very well come out of the theater ready to invest in companies deriving energy from wood chips and algae, or growing food in vertical, inner-city farms.

- Tm Keogh, SEATTLE TIMES

"SWEEPING AND EXHILARATING"...Tickell's passionate film goes beyond great storytelling; it rings out like a bell that stirs consciousness and makes individual action suddenly seem consequential.

- Caroline Libresco, THE SUNDANCE INSTITUTE

This showing of FUEL is offered by the Clinton Biofuel Initiative (CBI), a group of volunteers representing local government, public education, forward thinking businesses, a beloved library, activist students, and impassioned citizens. The Clinton Biofuel Initiative is dedicated to spreading awareness of and informing the public about biodiesel and other green, renewable energies. By developing and providing educational programs and encouraging the use of sustainable forms of energy, CBI looks to help green our world, one community at a time. For further information, contact Patsy Kumekawa (860) 664-1861
